Widow Breaks Arizonan's Will

At Tucson the Boley will contest was decided by Probate Judge Cooper yesterday in favor of the widow Mrs. Katherine Bolen who came from Durango, Canada to contest the will, successfully proving that she was the legal wife of the deceased, and awarded her community interest in the $22,000 estate.

Bolen, it will be recalled bequeathed his estate to the Masonic lodge at Tucson. By the decision the lodge will still be heir but only of Bolen's interest in the estate.

Statehood Prospects Delayed

Advice from Washington regarding the statehood situation are not so favorable as hoped for. It now appears the administration are making efforts to have the resolution report delayed in submitting same to the senate. The excuse for delaying action is that the statehood bill may precipitate a fight on the reciprocity and tariff legislation, upsetting plans already strained.

In spite of this, friends of the statehood measure may force the issue and call for a report next week, since it is known the committee voted on a report on Friday last. Leaders are still hopeful that the resolution will be passed at this session, but tactics for delay caused some concern for the time being. Renewed efforts will at once be instituted to hurry consideration of the resolution.

To Build Largest Smelter in Arizona

An important announcement comes from Jerome to the effect that Senator Clark will build a new smelter for his United Verde and other Arizona mines at a point near Cedar Glade in the Verde Valley.

The Santa Fe has surveyed a line about 40 miles long to carry the ore and will build at once, it is said. The smelter is claimed will be the largest in Arizona, and exceed 5,000 tons daily capacity.

Extension Will Cost $800,000

That the building of the E P & S W 66 mile extension from Fairbank to Tucson is a gigantic undertaking may be gathered from the fact that the total cost will reach over $800,000.

The grading will require 66,000 yards of work to the mile and 30,000 yards of cement to the mile. The grading and cement work will reach over $300,000, alone.

In the bids called for the E P & S W will lay its own steel, do its own ballasting and build its bridge and stations.

Members of large contracting firms are arriving to inspect the ground and secure specifications etc.

Again Cupid Invades Tombstone

Shortly after the evening train arrived in Tombstone last evening Cupid again called upon Probate Judge Goodbody authorizing that official to join in the holy bonds of matrimony Otto G Kirchner and Lilla B Ashley, both residents of Bisbee. The judge in his usual happy manner pronounced the words that made them man and wife and after a few words of fatherly advice bid them start their journey upon life's highway. They returned to Bisbee this afternoon, where they will make their future home.
